Greenbelt School Enrollment Shows Rise Over Last Year

by Elaine Skolnik

Enrollment in Greenbelt's public elementary schools has risen to 1,817, an increase of 11.8% over last year's total. The finishing touches are being applied to the new additions at North End and Center Schools, which have been in use since the beginning of the school year. Cafeterias, however, have not opened and no date for completion has been announced. Construction is underway on additions at Springhill Lake Elementary School and the Greenbelt Junior High School, and an additional structure is slated for the new Parkdale Senior High School, which includes tenth and eleventh grade Greenbelt students.

The opening of Parkdale has alleviated overcrowded conditions at High Point Senior High School, but it is anticipated that enrollment will move upwards because of increased development in the area.

Elementary Schools

North End's student body numbers 588 (including four kindergarten classes), an increase of 12% over last year's enrollment. The school's pupil capacity is approximately 600 (based on the Board of Education's formula of 30 pupils per classroom).

The staff of 22 full-time teachers is composed of grade, kindergarten, 1 physical education, 1 music and 2 special education teachers. Part-time personnel include French, speech, reading and instrumental teachers and a librarian.

Principal Mrs. Helene Poland spoke highly of the equipment, materials and pilot programs that are new to the school. She said, "We are always working for ways to make education more exciting for the children."

Center School reports an enrollment of 629 (including 4½ kindergartens), up 11.7% over last year. The rated capacity of the school is approximately 680. Among the full-time staff of 23.5 are 1 physical education, 1 music and 2 special education teachers. Employed part-time at the school are French, speech, instrumental and reading teachers and a librarian.

Robert Ellis, principal, was enthusiastic about the parent program that operates in the school. He explained, "Last year parents came into the school to perform clerical work. The program will be expanded this year, and parents will come into the classroom and actually assist the teachers by working as aides under the teacher's direction."

Springhill Lake School's enrollment is up some 12% over last year. Five portable classrooms are located on the school grounds to help accommodate the student body of 600 (including four kindergartens). The present rated capacity of the existing school is 450 and 150 for the portables. When the addition is completed, SHL will have a pupil capacity of approximately 865.

The full-time staff of 23 includes grade and kindergarten teachers, one physical education and one music teacher and a librarian. French, reading, speech and instrumental teachers are at the school part-time.

Mrs. Ethel Golden, principal, was optimistic about the school year and felt the school could adequately handle the anticipated increased enrollment as the result of new development in the area when a new section of SHL apartments opens early next year. The school serves students from SHL in Greenbelt and the Westchester Apartments in Berwyn. The latter are transported by bus to the school.

St. Hugh's School (grades 1 through 8, has a total enrollment of 326. This is an 11.8% decrease from last year's figures of 370. The staff consists of 11 teachers (5 sisters and 6 lay teachers). Sister Anne Frederick, C.S.C., is the principal.

Greenbelt Junior High

The enrollment picture at Greenbelt Junior High depicts a 2% increase this year. The student body, now totaling 1,073, is above the school's rated capacity of approximately 855-875 students. Five portable school houses are located in front of the school. When the new wing containing 14 classrooms is completed, the capacity will be 1,248.

Principal Francis Furgang reports that his staff numbers 60.5. There are two principals, three guidance counselors and a speech therapist.

High Point

High Point Senior High School opened its doors to 2,185 students, a decrease of 13.5% over last year's total. Accounting for the drop in enrollment was the opening of the new Parkdale Senior High School. Only students who are now in their senior year are attending High Point. Two portable classrooms are in use, some eight fewer than last year. The pupil capacity of the school is 2,350.

The school, headed by Dr. Allan T. Chotiner, has a staff of 139, including four vice-principals and six guidance counselors.

Parkdale

Parkdale Senior High's student body totals 1,763 — 935 tenth graders and 768 eleventh graders. The rated capacity of the existing school structure is 1,800 students. Portable classrooms will be needed for the 1969-1970 school year when twelfth graders will be attending. Hopefully, a new addition will be completed in 1970. The staff numbers 82, including three vice-principals, five guidance counselors, two librarians, five driver's education teachers and a reading teacher.

Dr. G. Allen Sager reports that school organizations are springing up "all over the place." A student council is being formed, the majorettes, pom-poms and cheerleaders are already in action, the band celebrated its first performance and the football team won five straight.

Public Hearing on "Conditional Zoning"

A public hearing on "conditional zoning" authority for the Prince Georges County Commissioners has been scheduled for Tuesday, November 12, at 10:30 a.m.

Under consideration at the hearing, to be held in the Upper Marlboro Courthouse, will be an amendment to the basic zoning ordinance which would permit the Commissioners to include "reasonable requirements and safeguards in granting requests for development, when these conditions "would protect surrounding properties from adverse effects . . . or which would further enhance the coordinated, harmonious and systematic development" of an area.

Under the proposed amendment, whenever a zoning change is approved subject to conditions, the developer would have 90 days to accept or reject the rezoning with the restrictions. If he rejected the conditions, the rezoning would become void and the land would remain in its prior classification.

If land is conditionally rezoned and the developer subsequently reneges on the agreement, the Commissioners would have the authority to annul the zoning change, revoke any use and occupancy permits granted, and institute any civil or criminal proceedings necessary to obtain compliance.

The proposed ordinance would not change any existing rezoning requirements. A developer would still have to meet all tests for the classification sought. Only after he has done so may the Commissioners then require that additional conditions be met.

County Commission Chairman Gladys Spellman, in announcing the hearing, declared "conditional zoning has the advantage that the government . . . formulates the needed extra limitation, and enforces it through requiring all building to be done in accord with the requirements of both the applicable zoning and the special limitations. And the government, being a continuing body, can effectively police the special limitations throughout the years."

News Review Staff Meets

The annual membership meeting of the Greenbelt Cooperative Publishing Association, Inc., publishers of the News Review, will be held on Sunday, October 27, at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Alfred Skolnik, 2-E Northway. All present staff members of the News Review are asked to attend. The 5-man governing board for 1968-69 will be elected.

Council and Notables Pay Tribute to Frank Lastner

by Sid Kastner

A eulogy to the late Frank Lastner was read at Monday night's city council meeting, which was formally dedicated to the memory of one of Greenbelt's leading citizens who successively undertook the duties of Mayor and County Commissioner. Members of the Lastner family were in attendance as Councilmen, G.H.I. and G.C.S. representatives and County Commissioners Jesse Baggett and Bayne Brooke paid their respects.

Councilman Dick Pilski in his eulogy described Mr. Lastner as "one of the men in life who lit many candles in service to his fellow man. He was dedicated to his family and community . . . Each time a call was made for Frank Lastner to serve his country and community he answered the call." Pilski listed Lastner's fields of endeavor as including the church, G.H.I., G.C.S., civic associations, county, the Council of Governments, and the Greenbelt city government. He ended by saying "few men have given so much of themselves for God, family and country."

Commissioner Baggett, Charles MacDonald, Ben Rosenzweig and Charles Schwan each briefly expressed their high regard for the late Mr. Lastner as an individual who "served his fellow man well."

Mayor Edgar Smith then read an official resolution honoring his memory, and personally presented a framed copy of the resolution to Mrs. Hilda Lastner.

Other business moved quickly. Reports by the Advisory Planning Board on zoning petitions for Parcel 8 and Lakeside North, plans for Beltway Plaza, and the school-sites and perimeter road were all accepted by council and will be placed on the agenda for the next regular meeting. The lowest bid of $50,500 for construction of an addition to the firehouse, submitted by Burgdorf, Inc., was accepted by motion; along with this, an agreement was authorized between the city and fire department to arrange for financing of the addition regardless of whether the bond issue is approved or not.

In connection with the coming referendum on the bond issue, council appointed Margaret Baldwin as chief judge and Evelyn Barcus as alternate chief judge. Five election workers were nominated as follows, one by each councilman; Belva Weisel, Ruth Weyel, Jackie Schabe, Beverly Izzo, and Margaret Feeney. Two voting machines will be provided, at the request of city clerk Nita Maschauer.

Mayor Smith remarked that he had attended a meeting of the recently formed Springhill Lake Men's Club, which has been formed to work for the youth of the community; he praised it as a worthy organization and moved a resolution to commend and support the club. On passage, he presented a signed copy of the resolution to club vice-president David Perrin.

A public hearing will take place on Monday, Oct. 28 at 6 p.m. at the Riverdale Office of the Prince Georges County Delegation, to hear legislative proposals from municipalities. Smith indicated he will attend and describe Greenbelt's program.

Montgomery County Delegate Charles A. Doctor has requested support for a joint resolution requesting the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Federal Aviation Administration to take steps to transfer much air traffic from National Airport to the other area airports. Smith and Councilman Gough expressed tentative agreement and a desire to know more about it.

Scout Troop Performs Massive Clean-up Job

What came out of the lake on Thursday when Scout Troop 202 did an all-day clean-up job? What didn't come out—bottles, cans, stumps, old tires, assorted paper, sticks and branches. One truckload of beer cans alone was taken out along the dam. In all, about eight truckloads of debris were cleared out on the north side of the lake, from the peninsula to the dam and along the dam to the south corner.

Scoutmaster Donald Loutsch must be credited with the idea for the clean-up job. Since all scouts above the first rank need a conservation project and since Troop 202 has always undertaken a community project, Loutsch called the city and suggested the clean-up job. City Manager James K. Giese, delighted with the offer, volunteered a city-owned vehicle and a city crewman to work with the boys. He also offered a donation to the troop on the basis of the number of boy-hours worked. That turned out to be 51. A total of 12 boys worked during the day, which was a school holiday. It was muddy work, but everyone involved, city, and nearby residents assessed it as a job well done.

Dedication Ceremony For Roosevelt Tree

The daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. James A. Halsted, has accepted an invitation to come to Greenbelt on Saturday, November 2, at 2 p.m. to the Dedication of the Historic Tree honoring her mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. Mrs. Halsted will unveil the Plaque that is being erected at the tree, which is located on Crescent Road opposite Greenbelt Lake Park. At this site Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt spoke at the groundbreaking for Greenbelt in 1937.

Warren Joy Vintom, on the staff of the Resettlement Administration at the time Greenbelt was built, will say a few words about the origin and planning of Greenbelt.

The Dedication is sponsored by The Woman's Club of Greenbelt, with Mrs. Carrie O. Harper, Public Affairs, Chairman, spearheading the project. James C. Smith, a long time resident of Greenbelt, planned, designed and engineered the erection of the fence around the tree. Many former residents will attend the Dedication, to which the general public is invited.

North End School Sponsors Carnival

The North End Elementary School is sponsoring a carnival on Friday evening, October 25, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Booths of games, books, baked items and refreshments will be featured at this event. The community is invited to participate.

Public Meetings On County Charter

Prince Georges County voters are invited to meet and hear their candidates to write a County charter, at two public gatherings in October. All candidates from the two opposing slates will attend. The first meeting will be held Tuesday, October 29, at the Park and Planning Commission auditorium, 6600 Kenilworth Ave., Riverdale, at 8 p.m. The second, on Wednesday, October 30, will meet at John Hanson Junior High, 5660 Oxon Hill Rd., Oxon Hill, at 8 p.m.

On the November 5 referendum each voter will indicate with a "for" or "against" vote whether he approves drafting a county charter. He can then choose 5 out of the 10 candidates to write the draft. In November 1970 the document proposed by the charter-writing board will be placed before the electorate for approval.

The candidates meetings are sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Prince Georges County.

Thanks to Festival Workers To the Editor:

The Greenbelt Labor Day Festival is the result of hours of planning and hard labor by well over a hundred workers. Some participated as individuals, some as members of Greenbelt organizations, and some as Greenbelt city employees. The contributions of many of them were significant but were publicly unknown. Therefore we would like to thank these workers and others who made the 1968 Festival a success.

First, the Mayor and the City Council, the City Manager and his assistant - without the cooperation of these gentlemen, the Festival could not exist. Chief Lane and the Greenbelt Police Department - for their assistance with the parade, the carnival area, and many other activities. Officers John Krob and Paul Reamy assisted the Secret Service.

Recreation Department Director Darald Lofgren was a pleasure to work with and Marilyn Reamy deserves a special mention for her help with the Queen Contest, the Soul Music Band Contest, and several other events.

The Public Works Department supported us completely - Superintendent Buddy Attick, electrician Paul Williams, carpenters Otis Keyes, Sr., Ralph Deit, Hubert Michael, and helpers Henry Sacra and Henry Thurston - they built and maintained the carnival grounds.

Bill Lawson was a new member of the Festival Committee this year and contributed substantially. He organized the "Gala Street Dance", arranged for the barber-shop quartet and the "Krazy Kats" to perform, and helped in hundreds of other ways. Betty Maffay again organized an enjoyable talent show and Jack Maffay was the MC. Jo Seay assembled the bands for the traditional (noisy, cool - take your pick) band contest and Mike Gendel was MC. The contest was so popular that the finals packed the kids into the Youth Center despite the torrential rains outside. Joe Bell survived his first year as chairman of the queen contest and did an excellent job. Special thanks to Miss Greenbelt, Donna Austin, and the other contestants.

The Labor Day parade was a great success - it was frosting on the cake. Marty Anderson invited the dignitaries - including the arrangements for "the kids". Chief John Crisman of the Greenbelt Fire Department organized the units on the day of the parade while Emory Harmon and Vince Dutton were the MC's at the reviewing stand. The parade and the crab feast were well publicized; they were on television two nights in Washington and at least once in other cities, including Chicago. Parades may seem routine to some spectators but it is very difficult to organize a really good one - so the Fire Department and the others deserve commendation.

The excellent and unusual posters advertising the special contests were mostly the work of Betty Clark. Artyce Dunbar and Vicki Latham also made posters. The ladies were given only the factual information and all three produced posters which astonished the committee. We wonder how many other poster artists there are in town!

Sue Lange and Martin Mario solicited donations of prizes and trophies. Sue raised over $300, which enabled some events to be held that otherwise would have been canceled or cut severely. The committee also wishes to thank all the donors for their continued support of the Festival.

Mike Burchick was responsible for all of the special contests. He organized them, recruited event chairmen and judges, obtained ma-materials, and thought out the rules. His "old-fashioned" events were a great success and a lot was learned for next year. For example, we know now that 200 pies would still not be enough for the pie-eating contest! Thanks also to the event chairmen: Julius Chieppa, Allen Lenchek, George Pecor, Larry Noel, Mike Burchik, Jr. (we encourage nepotism), Paul Rousseau, and Toni Durantine. One other person should be mentioned - Sue Taylor (the one on Lastner Lane). She was new to the Festival this year and she really worked hard. She was the one who made out the certificate awards while the special contests went on - including 40 of them during the 15-minute watermelon eating contest!

The committee is very grateful for the active participation in the Festival by the civic organizations in Greenbelt. Martha Sutton, the Social Director at Springhill Lake Apartments, was very helpful. The Lions Club sponsored two of the most popular events - the bicycle contest and the pancake breakfast. The Prince George's Republican Club participated very actively this year under the direction of Jay Morris, Steve Reez, and Joe Bell. The crab feast was unusually successful, particularly for a first-time event. Jo Scheibel organized an excellent art show which was well received - another difficult job.

Thanks to the News Review for their cooperation, especially Mary Smith and Elaine Skolnik. The Festival could not be a success without the continued publicity and advertising in the paper.

Thanks again to all of the above and all of the others who helped so much.

The leaf vacuum machine—the “litter gitter”—has begun its fall rounds. Leaves only should be piled near the curb. The machine cannot pick up twigs, branches, and other debris.

The operator of the drag line continued with excavation of the bay end of the lake until Wednesday Oct. 23. Meanwhile the Public Works Dept. poured a concrete culvert bulkhead over the two large storm sewer pipes that flow into the lake below Olivewood Ct. They also extended the small storm sewer line at the corner of the lake nearest Olivewood so that that sharp corner which acts as a trap for windblown debris, could be rounded off. After the departure of the drag line, the city's crew will continue reconstruction and improvement of the bay area. Some of the future work must be accomplished by hand labor, Public Works Director “Buddy” Attick pointed out.

In support of the city's effort to clean up the lake, Boy Scout Troop 202, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Donald Loutsch, spent Thursday evening, Oct. 17, sprucing up the north shore of the lake from the dam to the peninsula. Working with the assistance of a city employee and a city truck, they cleaned out about eight truckloads of debris. For their labor the city paid an hourly rate for each boy to go into the coffers of the organization. The city welcomes similar support from other groups, on the same financial basis, Attick said. Less than half the lake shore has so far been cleaned, and some of the worst deposits of debris are on the south side “There's plenty of work still to be done,” Attick said.

Despite threatening skies, a three-inch base pavement was poured for the tennis courts on Friday, Oct. 18. This was just in time to save the newly graded area from erosion in Saturday's heavy downpour. On Monday part of the second coat was put down. All three coats should be in place before the week is out.

The Parks crew has seeded and dressed up the second filled area below the dam. They also relocated the circular flower bed near the bank, since the original bed was in a low place which did not drain properly. Flowering chrysanthemums, winter-blooming pansies, and spring blooming tulips were planted in the new bed.

So far this season, deposits of leaves have been picked up from an open bed trash truck, but the leaf vacuum machine is expected to be sent out during the last week of October.

Masonry work has been completed at the new Municipal Services Bldg. and roofers are now finishing up. The WSSC has also brought in water service to the building and, in conjunction with this installation, to the lake park as well. Lines for the eventual location of drinking fountains and a comfort station have now been laid.

Twenty-five Greenbelt residents registered to vote in city elections during the special registration day on Saturday.

Financing May Be Favorable For $950,000 Bond Issue

by

James K. Giese

City Manager

(This is the second in a series of articles concerning the proposed $950,000 bond issue to be voted upon by Greenbelt electors at a referendum on November 26, 1968.)

Playing the bond market is as speculative in some ways as the stock market. Interest rates fluctuate from day to day as funds to be invested become plentiful or short or as confidence in the future integrity of the dollar runs high or low. In timing the issue of bonds, one piece of frequently heard advice is to borrow the money when you need it and not try to outguess the market as to when interest rates will be most favorable. Others will tell you, however, that with careful analysis you can time the sale of bonds to when interest rates are most favorable.

When the City sold its last bonds the rate of interest was 3.05%, an extremely favorable rate. Shortly thereafter the rate began to rise—and rise and rise and rise. For some time the rate has fluctuated around 4½% on municipal bonds. Recently, however, the rate has begun to drop a little. Many economists believe that the rate will continue to drop and hold at a lower level than in the past, although no one appears to be predicting rates as low as we got on our last bonds. Eventually, however, interest will rise to even higher levels than in the past according to some experts.

Thus, if bonds are issued early next year, chances look good that the City might get a reasonably good interest rate.

There are many factors to consider when issuing bonds. Will we do better to borrow from local banks or financial institutions, or can we do better in seeking out investors from New York and elsewhere. Will we get more favorable terms by taking competitive bids or by negotiating a sale? What length of time to maturity will be the most attractive to investors? Should we borrow $950,000 all at one time (probably preferred by larger financial institutions) or in several smaller issues (probably preferred by small financial institutions)? Before making these decisions we will thoroughly explore the various alternatives in order to assure us the most favorable interest rates possible. To assist us and guide us the City has retained Mr. Warren Buckler of Baltimore as special bond counsel.

At the present time it would appear that, if approved at referendum, all bonds would be issued at once and would be sold on the basis of bids. Maturity would be within either fifteen or twenty years. The ordinance proposing the bond issue, however, provides sufficient flexibility that the City can provide terms for the issuing of bonds that will be the most favorable at the time of issue.

Re-invest for Profit?

When bonds are sold the funds received won't sit idle until such time as they are spent. Immediately they will be invested in United States Treasury Bills or Notes. In the past the City has earned a higher rate of interest on these investments than the interest rate it has paid on borrowed money. The reason is simple. Bonds of the City of Greenbelt are tax exempt investments—investors do not have to pay income tax on interest payments which they receive. Therefore, the interest rate is lower on municipal bonds than on bonds having taxable interest. U. S. Treasury Bills and Notes, on the other hand, are not tax exempt and usually pay a higher rate of interest than municipal bonds. Thus, even though we sell the bonds all at once, interest payments from City tax revenues will not be required on that portion of the money not actually spent.

Cost to Taxpayer

Rate of interest and length of maturity will affect significantly the annual expense required for principal and interest and, therefore, the property tax rate required to raise sufficient funds to meet these expenses. Assessed valuation also affects the tax rate, and, of course, as the city grows the assessed valuation will increase and a lower tax rate will be possible. At the worst, it is estimated that the first year's cost for principal and interest will require a 20c-per-$100 assessed value tax rate. The actual rate required will probably be 2c or 3c less. In future years the rate would decrease.

When the last two bond issues were authorized the City was able to absorb the added cost of debt repayment without increasing taxes. In fact the City Council has regularly lowered the tax rate. But the proposed issue is almost four times the size of the last bond issue. It will be too large to absorb the debt payment without increasing taxes. It may be possible, however, to absorb some of the cost and, therefore, not increase the total tax rate by as much as the rate required for the added debt payment.

Based on these tax rate estimates, the average single-family homeowner will probably pay between $20 and $25 the first year towards the repayment of this debt and less in future years. Also, G.H.I. homeowners' share will be well under $10 on the average in the first year, and, of course, less in future years. And the total City tax may not necessarily be increased by as much as the added cost for debt service.

Users to Pay

With the bond issue we will be able to meet a number of present and future needs now and at today's prices. But the bill will be shared by those residents who will use these facilities over the next twenty or so years, including those residents who will live on land still undeveloped.

Forum on Vietnam

A public forum on Vietnam will be held at 7:45 p.m. on Tuesday, October 29 in the Council Room, Greenbelt Municipal Building, Southway & Crescent Roads. This meeting is sponsored by the Greenbelt Peace Committee.

The opportunities for peace provided by the Paris Peace Talks and the extent to which they have been followed up will be discussed by Sanford Gottlieb. Mr. Gottlieb is executive director of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE), and presented SANE's views before the platform committees of both the Democratic and Republican parties. He has visited South Vietnam and met several times with representatives of North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front (NLF), the latest meeting being in Paris during July, 1968.

Two films will be presented which consider the basis for U.S. involvement. "Why Vietnam?" prepared by the Department of Defense, offers a justification of U.S. military intervention in Vietnam. A criticism of this policy will be presented in a filmed address by David Schoenbrun. Mr. Schoenbrun recently visited Hanoi and was CBS Paris Correspondent for 15 years. He was present at Dien-Bien Phu and the 1954 Geneva Convention ending the French-Vietnamese War.

These presentations will be followed by a discussion and question period.

Lakeside Citizens To Meet

The Lakeside Citizens Association will hold a semi-annual membership meeting on Monday, October 28, 8 p.m., at the Youth Center. Designed as a social affair, neighborhood get-together and a business meeting, the agenda includes discussion of whether to take a position on the city's bond issue, development of the lake and the lake park, and the possibility of a new recreational area for Lakeside. Refreshments will be served.

BOYS CLUB NEWS

by Jerry Shafer

Football season is half completed and, I am very happy to report, with a great degree of success. Our 110 pound team got their uniforms three days before the season started. After three games they are still looking for their first win, but they have improved a great deal in the three games played. They should hit the win column Saturday at Laurel.

The 85 pound team has won every game to date. In fact, only one touchdown has been scored against them in four games. They play their last home game this Saturday at 10 a.m. Boys Club plans to have "Parents Day" to show our appreciation to them and their boys. So come on down at 9:30 and cheer the boys on to victory in this last home game.

There will be a Boys Club meeting at 7:30 pm on Thursday, Oct. 24 at the Youth Center. Anyone interested in coaching basketball is invited to the meeting.

At a ball observing Greenbelt's 25th anniversary on October 27, 1962, County Commissioner Frank Lastner and Anniversary Chairman Harry Zubkoff look on while Governor J. Millard Tawes congratulates Mayor Francis White.

The Police Blotter

Last Sunday, Oct. 20, at 1:46 a.m., a car carrying two Greenbelt youths and driven by a Riverdale boy was shot at with a 12 gauge shotgun between Research and Ridge Roads. The blast shattered the rear window, hitting one boy with flying glass, and also put several holes in the roof of the car.

The incident occurred after the driver of the stricken vehicle stopped his car when he saw three or four other automobiles parked along Research Road containing some boys he thought he knew. When it developed that he did not know the boys, he started to drive away and was subsequently attacked. It is not known what, if any, language was exchanged.

The driver then spotted a police car on regular patrol and informed the officer, Corporal Faulconer, of the incident. The officer was able to stop two vehicles and placed two 18-year-old boys, one from Takoma Park and one from Hyattsville, under arrest. They were charged with assault and with carrying a deadly weapon with attempt to do bodily harm. In addition to the shotgun, the boys possessed a hatchet, six knives and ammunition. They were committed to the county jail, where they are awaiting trial.

(Chief Lane speculated on possible city or county rivalries existing, as earlier this past week six Greenbelt youths were arrested in Montgomery County for beating up some boys there.)

Parents are warned against placing harmful or poisonous articles where young children can reach them. One 11-month-old youngster recently swallowed a roach tablet, was treated at the hospital and released. "This sort of thing happens every day," commented Chief Lane. "It's just routine."

Post Office Dog Problem

Recently the number of dogs hampering the carriers in the delivery of mail has increased, according to reports by the local post office. Some carriers have been bitten and are under medical care.

Postmaster Emory A. Harman is requesting that dog owners keep their dogs inside the house or under control so that the carrier can deliver the mail promptly and efficiently.

Mail can be returned to the Post Office and patrons refused delivery until the problem has been removed. In some isolated cases, delivery could be refused to a whole court. "Please, Dog Owners, cooperate, so that we can deliver your mail," said Postmaster Harman.

A Report to the Public on PEPCO's own Clean Air Program

A lot of "fly ash" could come out of our generating station stacks.

But very little does. Most of it is trapped inside by electrostatic precipitators. As a matter of fact, less than 5% escapes into the atmosphere.

Something new at Pepco? Not at all. We installed one of the nation's first precipitators in our Buzzard Point plant in 1933 and have been installing them in each plant constructed ever since. At our new plant now under construction at Morgantown, Maryland, the escaping fly ash will be reduced to about half of one per cent.

But even that figure doesn't satisfy us. Nor are we happy with the sulphur oxide gases which also result from coal burning.

And we're working hard to clear the air of both. For example:

- Only low-sulphur-content coal is being used in all three of our in-city plants.

- We are participating in a $1.5 million project to test the efficiency and economic feasibility of a new process for removing sulphur oxides from stack gases. Early pilot tests give promise of 90-95% effectiveness.

- Our new peaking units, recently installed, comply with today's air quality standards.

- In 1967 we began requiring that all new motor vehicles we bought be equipped with available pollution-reducing exhaust control devices. We then purchased testing equipment to make sure that the control devices continue to operate at specified standards.

- We are building extremely tall stacks at our Morgantown plant to assure high-altitude dispersal of any fly ash and gases that do get out.

- Many of our technical people are actively participating in studies, discussion and experimentation being conducted by various organizations dealing with air pollution.

- We are conducting studies of our own. Among these are continuing surveys of air quality in upper northwest Montgomery County where our Dickerson generating station is located, and in the vicinity of our Chalk Point plant in Prince Georges County. A similar survey is being made in Charles County, where our Morgantown plant is going up, to determine present air quality conditions for comparison with those after the plant goes into operation.

- Pepco cooperates fully, in spirit as well as letter, with the efforts of all national and local governmental agencies in the field of pollution control.

In summary, we fully accept the dual obligation to provide plentiful, low-cost electric service and to do it in a way that keeps the air as free of harmful pollutants as possible. As residents of the communities we serve, we can do no less. After all, it's our air, too.
